Before printing this document please note that it is over 130 pages in length, will be occasionally revised as new information is received. As well, it is much easier to search on a computer than doing so with a paper copy.

Canadian Maverick Tokens – Attributed

June 2023 – Revision 9

Eric Jensen – FCNRS

This listing is a continuing compilation of attributed Canadian maverick tokens extracted from a multitude of published sources. Whenever I was attempting to attribute maverick tokens I always seemed to reach first for Attributed Canadian Maverick Tokens – C.A.T.C. compiled by Cecil C. Tannahill. Since this document was issued some 40+ years ago [1979] I realized that it was somewhat out of date, but non-the-less I always found it a great starting point. I had also been keeping various other lists and notes, none that ever seemed to be where I thought they were when I needed them, so I made the decision to start a database of attributed Canadian maverick tokens.

As my database grew I felt that sooner or later I would have to bite the bullet and do a proper job of making as comprehensive a list as I could – one stop shopping, I hoped. The result is this document which basically is to me only a fresh starting point, and hopefully will be of use to others as well.

To compile this listing I first entered most of the Canadian maverick tokens that are listed in the Attributed Canadian Maverick Tokens – C.A.T.C.. I then reviewed the Canadian token books I had on hand and extracted what I thought could be classified as mavericks. I felt that the source of where I obtained the information was very important so I included a column titled “Source Code”. The explanation for the codes used is located at the end of this document.

Generally the mavericks listed are ones that do not have the city or town named, or in many cases have the town or city but do not indicate which Province they are from or even if they are from Canada: i.e. Vancouver (Washington); Ottawa (Illinois and Kansas); Toronto (Ohio and California); etc, etc.

This approach closely follows what Cecil Tannahill did in his publication. After completing a review of the reference material at hand I went through thirty years of The Canadian Token and eight years (and counting) of Numismatica Canada both being the Canadian Association of Token Collectors club newsletters. In each case I used the most current reference I could find, replacing the older references in the database in some cases. I choose to do this in most cases but now list multiple references, which I believe will be of value. Subsequently I have added mavericks from Ronald Greene’s BCDatabase, car wash mavericks with information provided by Jim Delaney from Car Wash Tokens of North America and a review of some forty years of The Canadian Numismatic Research Society – Transactions, a fantastic set of research documents. I updated the Quebec references after receiving some corrections and information from Franck D. Fortin. I also scoured the Saskatoon Coin Club’s website [in March 2021] where they have included a listing of all know Saskatchewan Trade Tokens. Lastly I have added the mavericks and references from Lorne Barnes Trade Tokens of Ontario. I have not included Gaming Chips, Municipal Trade Tokens [Trade $] or Woods as these items have extensive documentation available for research.

Any errors found in this listing are mine. I thought of blaming my computer since “To err is human but to really mess up you need a computer!” but realized that this did not seem proper. With the sheer amount of data I was reviewing and entering, at times “I got so cross-eyed that when I cried the tears rolled down my back”. What I am hoping thought is that the effort has been worth it and that others using this document can help spot the errors that have crept in – the gremlin factor. If brought to my attention, along with any suggestions and additions anyone may have, I can then make the necessary corrections for a future update.

I also feel that this listing is best kept as an electronic file, maybe with a shortcut located on your desktop, which would allow for quick electronic searches. This could also have the potential to save a few trees. For those that have not tried an electronic search before try <Ctrl.> <F> on a PC or <command> <F> on a Mac.

I provide this document as a searchable PDF file [portable document format] as this standard can be read by just about any computer in general use. This document can be read and searched by using Adobe Reader®, which is a free program available from <http://get.adobe.com/reader> or by any other PDF software program.

Most of the abbreviations I used should be self explanatory with a few exceptions. In the “Good For” column Cecil Tannahill used “nd” to stand for ‘no denomination’ indicated on a token whereas I used “ns” for ‘not stated’. This simply means that the token does not state what it was “Good For”. I struggled with both these abbreviations but finally settled on the “ns”. If others have strong opinions either way I can always make a change in future revisions. I used “¢” for any token that had a denomination associated with it, “Milk” for dairy issues, “Loaf” for bakery issues and “Adv” for advertizing pieces. I also used “Amusement” and “Game” for what I thought where obvious arcade type tokens and “Car Wash” for those tokens that were obviously issued for this purpose, even if not stated. Some “Good For” entries remain blank either because I have not gotten around to filling them in yet or because I was unable to decide what the intent of the token or other item were. Like Cecil Tannahill, to save space in the token description, I generally shortened Brunswick Balke Collender to BBC.

Where I have included a “Token #” this generally refers to the first token number as assigned in the publications listed at the back of this document. They are only meant as a guide to steer an individual to the right document and general location within the reference document. This number should not be used to label tokens as the reference documents should be used for that purpose. The reference documents rule as this is only a list to try and assist in finding the documentation that makes the maverick attributable.

If you are not already a member I would highly recommend that you join “The Canadian Association of Token Collectors” as their publications contain a wealth of in-depth information on Canadian tokens and related numismatic items. This list would not have even been possible to start without the tremendous effort that was put forth by the authors that have either published token reference books or submitted articles for inclusion in The Canadian Token and Numismatica Canada. For information on the Canadian Association of Token Collectors [C.A.T.C.] I recommend you visit <https://www.nunetcan.net/catc.htm>

My sincere hope is that the information provided within this listing helps someone, somewhere attribute a token that has remained a mystery to them, up until now. Token collecting is a wonderful pastime that can be enjoyed by anyone that has been bitten by the collecting bug. I believe that the availability of quality reference material adds significantly to the enjoyment of collecting. I know it certainly always has and still does for me. What I would also really appreciate is feedback on this listing to assist me in improving both the usefulness and the quality of this document (‘Continuous Improvement’). I can be reached by email at: egjensen@telus.net

Z - Eric Jensen (ABTokens) - updates to Alberta Trade Tokens

Canadian Maverick Tokens - Attributed

[I have included these tokens from information provided to me by Alberta trade token collectors and from my own token collection. They have been listed in the digital version of “Alberta Trade Tokens – A Comprehensive Listing”.]

Many of the documents referenced above are available for interlibrary loan from the Nickel Arts Museum, Calgary. They acquired the Royal Canadian Numismatic Society’s library in late 2022 through a grant from the Calgary Numismatic Society.

Some of the referenced documents are also available on the Canadian Numismatic Research website.
