CONDITIONS OF BUSINESS

The conditions of business, along with all other terms, conditions and notices set out in this auction catalogue, or announced by the auctioneer, form the terms on which Jeffrey Hoare Auctions, Inc. (JHA) contracts, as auctioneer, with actual and prospective sellers and buyers. These Conditions of Business apply to all aspects of the relationship of purchase and sale of property by auction. It is therefore very important that you read these conditions carefully. By bidding or selling in this sale you agree to accept these conditions, and that these conditions shall govern all future dealings that may occur between you and JHA.

You should note that JHA generally acts as an agent for the seller. Any concluded contract of sale is made directly between the seller and the buyer. You acknowledge that JHA is dependent on the seller for much of the relevant factual material pertaining to the items offered for sale. JHA can not and does not undertake full due diligence on every item sold. Buyers therefore have the responsibility to carry out their own inspection and investigations to satisfy themselves as to the nature of the items, which they are interested in buying. We specifically draw your attention to Conditions 23 through 28, which limit the extent to which the seller and JHA may be liable. We also draw to the attention of all sellers, their individual consignment receipt, incorporated herein, which sets out the relationship between the "seller" and JHA.

For the purposes of these conditions Jeffrey Hoare Auctions, Inc. is referred to as "JHA", "auctioneer", "us" or "we" and actual prospective buyers and sellers are, as applicable, referred to as "you" and "your", or "buyer" and "seller".

Definitions of Terms:

The following terms, placed in quotation marks, shall have the meaning set out below:

- (a) "buyer" means the person who makes the highest acceptable bid or that person's pre-authorized representative;
- (b) "buyer's premium" means the commission on the "hammer price" payable to JHA at the rates listed in the auction catalogue, together with an amount in lieu of any taxes applicable to said commission;
- (c) "hammer price" means the price at which an item is knocked down by the auctioneer to the "buyer" or, in the case of postal auctions, the agreed price; in both cases excluding the "buyer's premium";
- (d) "seller" means the person or persons that have ownership of the merchandise offered. In the case of multiple ownership, each of the owners shall assume, jointly and severally, all obligations, liabilities, and representations, warranties, and indemnities as set forth in these Conditions of Business;
- (e) "seller's commission" means the amount payable to JHA by the seller at the rates applicable at the date of the sale of the property or the date of loss or damage to the property, if applicable;
- (f) "net sale proceeds" means the "hammer price" of the lot sold, less the "seller's commission" and "expenses";
- (g) "expenses" as related to the sale of items at auction means, but not limited to, JHA's charges for insurance, collection, advertising, catalogue reproduction and photography, packing and shipping costs, research, taxes and/or duties or charges for other services requested by the "seller" in conjunction with the sale.

General Conditions:

1. For Canadian residents a 15% buyers commission, plus your province of residence's GST or HST as applicable, will be added to the hammer price of each lot purchased. For international buyers, only a 15% buyer's commission will be added to the hammer price of each lot purchased. These amounts are payable by the buyer as part of the total purchase price. Lots are not shipped until full payment is received.

2. We reserve the right to withdraw or combine any lot at our discretion.
3. In conformity with Canadian Law, no coin or currency lots will be opened at less than the face value.
4. JHA reserves the right to reject any bids not made in good faith and further reserves the right to exclude any bidder from participating in its sales for any reason deemed appropriate and at our sole discretion.
5. All bidders in any JHA auction expressly waive any claim or right to an accounting, damages or compensation arising out of JHA's failure to receive or execute any bid due to exclusion, clerical error or other causes. No bids will be accepted from any person who has not signed a registration form or bidder sheet.
6. No minors may participate in our sales.
7. If you make a bid at auction you do so as principal and will be held personally and solely liable for that bid unless we have previously agreed with you in writing that you do so on behalf of an identified third party who is acceptable to us. In circumstances where we have so agreed, both you and the third party will be jointly and severally liable for all obligations arising from the bid and the third party shall be bound by the Conditions of Business by your bidding as their agent in the same way as if they were bidding personally. Agents should note that JHA's stated warranties apply only to the registered bidder to whom the lot is sold, and can not be extended to any undisclosed thirdparty. All agents are therefore advised to register their agency and principal with JHA prior to the sale. No exceptions will be granted.
8. Title to all lots remains with JHA until payment in full is received.
9. Sales tax will be collected under the law of the Province of Ontario unless a valid vendor's permit number is presented, or lots are shipped out of Province.
10. Due to Canadian Heritage laws, some of the items in our auctions may require Export Licenses if the successful purchaser requires the lot to be taken or shipped out of Canada. JHA will assist the buyer in obtaining such licenses and complying with applicable Canadian Heritage laws.
11. By placing a bid in this sale, you agree that this agreement is made in Ontario by the Auction House's entry of your bid, and that disputes concerning the agreement shall be decided by the application of Ontario law. In the event of a dispute or non-payment, JHA may elect to proceed judicially, in which case the bidder consents to jurisdiction and venue in the Courts of Ontario. If an account is referred to an attorney for collection, the buyer agrees to hold JHA harmless and indemnify for all costs of collection, including actual reasonable attorney's fees, with interest at 1.5% per month (18% p.a.) accruing on the entire amount paid. The bidder also assumes both corporate and personal liability for unpaid auction bills.
12. Successful bidders are required to pay the full invoice amount due before the lots are delivered. Previous established lines of credit, at the sole discretion of the auctioneer, may not be honored unless arrangements for this sale have been specifically agreed to, in writing, by the auctioneer. Please contact us in advance if you have any questions regarding your purchasing plans. First rate credit references or a 25% deposit are necessary to ensure entry of your bids. Any portion of such deposit not used will be promptly refunded after each sale.
13. Lot descriptions contained within the catalogue are statements of opinion only. All goods are offered with all faults and imperfections and errors of description. Illustrations in the catalogue are for identification only, and may be reduced or enlarged in size. To assist you, we may refer in a catalogue to particular faults or imperfections, but any such guidance, which we provide, does not purport to be exhaustive. You will be deemed to have knowledge of all matters which you could be reasonably expected to find out given your particular expertise

- and the exercise by you of reasonable due diligence. The failure of any third party to concur with any statement of opinion shall not be grounds for the return of any lot under Conditions 24-26.
14. Bids for the auction will be accepted by Mail, or fax until the closing date and time specified. All telephone bids must be confirmed in writing on a bid sheet.
  15. No "buy" or "unlimited" bids will be accepted. Mail bids will be opened at the next interval over the second highest bid, except where the intrinsic or regular market worth of the item dictates an opening at its fair market value. Floor bidding intervals will have an average increment of about 5% at the discretion of the auctioneer.
  16. All bids must be in whole dollar amounts, this includes percentage increases. Lots will open at the next interval over the second highest bidder, or 50% of the estimate whether reserved or not. Bids of less than 50% of estimate will not generally be accepted except at the sole discretion of the auctioneer.
  17. In the case of a tie mail bid, the first received will be given preference. In the case of a tie between a mail bidder and the floor, the mail bidder takes precedence. Fax bidders will be considered as mail bidders for the purposes of this clause.
  18. Bidders are solely responsible for checking the accuracy of their bid sheets. JHA assumes no responsibility for errors in the amount bid or lot numbers listed on the bid sheet. Please be sure that your bid sheet is signed.
  19. Postage, insurance, shipping and handling fees are added to ALLSHIPMENTS, the minimum being $10.00. Bidders outside of Canada must supply detailed shipping instructions and agree to all terms as listed herein before shipment is made.
  20. JHA may reopen the bidding on a lot under the following circumstances:
    - (a) JHA has failed to correctly execute a mail bid;
    - (b) A party purchasing the lot on the floor has done so in error;
    - (c) Where a protest is made after the hammer has fallen but before bidding has commenced on the next lot;
    - (d) Where the auctioneer has determined that he has overlooked a party still bidding on the lot, but before the calling of the next lot;
    - (e) At the discretion of the auctioneer.
  21. In the event of a dispute, the auctioneer's decision is final.
  22. Persons placing bids are responsible for meeting the maximum amounts represented on their bid sheets. JHA reserves the right to reject frivolous complaints and to take appropriate action against such bidders as defined in Conditions 4 and 11.
  23. Floor bidders may not return any lots, including those purchased while acting as agents. Those persons bidding on the floor are deemed to have inspected the lots and satisfied themselves as to the lot's authenticity, description and condition. No exceptions will be made.
  24. All claims for adjustments by non-floor bidders, for reasons of non-authenticity must be made within 5 days of receipt of the goods, but in no case later than 28 days after a sale, as JHA acts as an agent for various consignors.
  25. NO CLAIMS OF ANY KIND will be considered after settlements have been made. Failure of the bidder to execute this privilege within the 28 day time period, either from a failure to pay promptly or any other cause shall void the privilege. This privilege applies solely to the original purchaser and does not extend or transfer to any third party whatsoever. Any returned lot must be received in the condition it was sent out. Numismatic items must be returned in the original holder with the seal intact. Capricious returns will not be accepted.
  26. If we are notified prior to the expiration of the 28 day period that the authenticity of a lot is in question, the matter will remain open until such time that the lot in question is proven to be non-authentic to our reasonable opinion. Buyers shall be required to submit generally accepted references in support of their position. The buyer agrees that any claim shall be limited to the "hammer price" and the "buyer's premium" actually paid to JHA with regard to that lot. The buyer further agrees that the dispute may, at the sole discretion of the auctioneer, be submitted to a third party expert of the auctioneer's choosing, whose decision shall be final.
  27. No price adjustments will be made to the hammer price of a lot whether there is an authenticity question about the whole lot or any one item within the lot. The entire lot must be returned if a refund is to be made.
  28. Third party graded coins including but not limited to ICCS, PCGS and NCG cannot be returned for grading disagreement. They are sold as is. Any discrepancies in the grade should be taken up with the appropriate grading company.
  29. Terms for this sale are strictly cash and must be paid promptly in Canadian funds. Payments should be made immediately on receipt of the invoice. Payments from foreign accounts must be made in the form of a Canadian Dollar Bank Draft.
  30. As a convenience, invoices may be charged to Visa and MasterCard accounts. Please supply account number, signature and expiration date at the bottom of your bid sheet. Please note that there will be an additional service charge of 2% for using a charge card.
  31. A monthly interest charge of 1.5% is charged on all accounts 30 days past due, calculated from the date of the sale. Late payers should not expect to receive future catalogues.
  32. The same protection applicable to Jeffrey Hoare Auctions, Inc., applies and extends to each and every one of their officers, employees and consultants, unless they shall be convicted of knowingly selling false or stolen goods in connection with lots offered at auction.
  33. In the event of unsuccessful litigation the plaintiff shall pay all JHA's legal costs, and all other costs incurred by JHA in defense against such suit.
  34. JHA assumes no liability for merchandise lost, stolen or damaged while in the possession of a party to whom merchandise has been shipped. The purchaser is solely responsible for the safekeeping and insurance of any items in their possession.
  35. BIDDING IN THIS AUCTION SALE CONSTITUTES FULL ACCEPTANCE BY THE BIDDER OF ALL THE FOREGOING CONDITIONS OF BUSINESS.

George Alfree was born in Westminster, London, on 31 October 1844, he entered the Royal Navy as a Boy 2nd Class on H.M.S. Victory on 14 June 1859. Alfree entered the rolls of H.M.S. Pylades on 16 April 1862. The ship was on service on the North American and West Indies Stations. While on board Pylades Alfree served in Canada at the time of the Fenian Raids of 1866. Alfree left the Royal Navy in 1885 following his service aboard the Unicorn.

The Canada General Service Medal roll indicates that George Alfree also served aboard the gunboat Royal during the raids. At Montreal the Royal was fitted out and despatched through the St. Lawrence Canals and River. She was armed with an Armstrong 12-pounder and a brass howitzer forward, and an Armstrong 12-pounder aft. Her batteries around the bow and stern were cased with iron for the protection of the men working the guns, and her wheel-house protected with sand-bags, for protection against rifle fire. The gunboat was crewed by sailors from the Pylades including Alfree. Comes with copy of his Royal Navy Service Record.

On the medal roll it appears that only three medals had been issued for the crew of the Royal.

Francis Beversham Hanson was born at Hampstead, London in 1890 the son of Edward Beversham Hanson, a civil engineer by trade. Commissioned Midshipman on 15 May 1907, he was promoted Sub-Lieutenant 30 September 1910 and Lieutenant 1 January 1913, whence he was seconded to the Royal Canadian Navy, on what would be the beginning of an eventful Great War as a pioneering submariner in the embryonic Canadian Submarine Service.

'Ready for action torpedoes on board'

The tale of the acquisition of the first vessels of the Canadian Submarine Service is an intriguing one, much of the events veiled in secrecy. As it was, the Seattle Dry Dock and Construction Company had been commissioned to complete the building of two submarines in 1911 for the Chilean Government. Named Iquique and Antofagasta, they would later be renamed CC-1 and CC-2. Events that transpired, resulting in the synthesis of the Canadian Submarine Service may be attributed to the enterprise, daring and favourable-timing utilised by the Premier of British Columbia at the time. Work was drawing to a close and delivery of the boats was imminent, however upon their inspection and to the surprise of the manufacturers the vessels were rejected. A lunch was taken at the Union Club, 29 July 1914, a mere eight days prior to the start of the War, it transpiring that J. Paterson, President of the manufacturers, Sir R. McBride, Premier of British Columbia and Captain W.H. Logan, insurer for the submarines were all present. With War being almost a certainty, many felt it would be pertinent to defend the West coast and a local committee had formed with the intention to purchase a battleship. Following a number of hushed telephone calls and conversations, it had been decided that the submarines might be a good fit.

The vessels were very small, 150ft in overall length, a 15ft beam, displacement of 410 tonnes and powered with diesel-electric engines. Painted grey, they sat low in the water and armed with bow sited 18-inch torpedo tubes.

A cable dated 3 August 1914 destined for the Director of the Naval Service in Ottawa gave the final order:

'Two submarines completed for Chilean Government Seattle, estimated cost $575,000 each. Could probably purchase. Ready for action torpedoes on board. Chilean Government cannot take possession. I consider it most important to acquire immediately. Burrell concurs. Provincial Government will advance money pending remittance.'

Without a Government Cabinet vote, the approval was made and a cheque for $1,200,000 was made out to Sir R. McBride. With War declared on the 4th August 1914, Canada was thrust into the conflict and the exchange of the cheque at sea, upon hand-over of the submarines was approved.

It was at 0445hrs on 5 August 1914, in the international waters of the Strait of Juan de Fuca, the Canadian Submarine Service was born. Two submarines had snuck out of the American shipyard secretly under the cover of darkness, itself causing international outcry and loss of face at the very start of the War. Canada had her boats, which began their journey to harbour at Esquimalt. As they neared port, completely unannounced a signal stating 'Two German torpedo boats nearing the port' was made. Militia men upon the shore-guns of Black Rock turned to one another on the first day of the Great War, saying to one another:

"My God, what are we going to do now?"

No doubts with the Officers on shore were present. As soon as the boats were in range, shells and twelve-pounders would rain home a hail of fire. Fortunately for the boats, the Gunner Officer took a second to consider; the vessels were surfaced and looked like British C-Class boats. Thankfully, the two boats then hoisted a flag. In official correspondence it was the Red Ensign, although elsewhere it was rumoured to be a requisitioned pillow case.

Just two men greeted the vessels, Sir R. McBride and Lieutenant H. Pilcher. A whirlwind few days had delivered submarines to protect the Pacific coast, with an official announcement was published the very same day in the Daily Colonist:

'Sir Richard McBride, representing the Province of British Columbia, some days ago completed the purchase of two submarines, which are now lying at anchor in British waters ready for action. The submarines are newly built and said to be of the most destructive class.'

'A pretty motley bunch'

With the submarines now with the Royal Canadian Navy, they now lacked a crew. Lieutenant A. St. V. Keyes assembled the crews at Esquimalt, with three Officers and eighteen ratings required per vessel. Recruits transitioned from all manner of occupation, some had never been to sea and a number had not managed to shave for the initial draft, an Able Seaman quite correctly identifying them as '...a pretty motley bunch.'

Hanson from 3 February 1914 had served aboard the Royal Canadian Navy vessel Shearwater, which had been refitted in September to act as tender to the two boats.

By the time Hanson was appointed Captain of CC-1 in January 1915, the novice crews had at least transitioned to theoretical submariners. Testing had been completed for speed, torpedoes and in use of the wireless.

Throughout 1915 the boats completed their defensive duties, patrolling the coast, visiting Ports and completing practice attacks on the Shearwater. For the subsequent two years, the vessels remained a successful deterrent on the Pacific coast just as their purchase had been approved for. Although the boats did not fire in anger during the Great War, they were kept extremely active with the crews at sea for two weeks and then at shore for the following. Admiral Von Spee did not dare risk sending his fleet in their direction, as the boats of the Canadian Submarine Service were well-suited to their geography. Ideal for patrolling the narrow straits of the Canadian Pacific coast, their presence alone would be more than sufficient to prevent a cruiser from risking entry. Although both vessels suffered from engine issues, their efficiency in the infancy of the submarine boat was acceptable.

'An absurd undertaking'

Throughout the early years of the War, it had been intended that once training and mechanical issues had been ironed out that the submarines make their way to Europe. As it transpired, they were both completely suited to their role on the Pacific coast and completely unsuitable to transfer across the Atlantic. However, the Royal Navy agreed they should at least make the journey to Halifax. A flurry of correspondence followed, with an agreement that the Shearwater be once again refitted with the appropriate gear for the 7,252 mile journey which was estimated to take two months.

Sailing under the cover of darkness in the morning of 21 June 1917, CC-1, CC-2 and Shearwater left Esquimalt harbour for the final time, under strict orders that under no circumstance should their route or destination be revealed- the men were banned from any shore leave until they had first traversed the Panama Canal.

It soon became apparent that the journey across open seas would be a difficult and dangerous one. Off Cape Blanco, Oregon whilst CC-1 was in tow a storm erupted, with CC-2 being untethered she lost her station and surfaced, rolling to 60 degrees, taking on water which damaged the batteries and poisoned the crew.

Engineering difficulties were a major strain on the long journey to Halifax, with Hanson and his corresponding Commanding Officer Lake were forced to run the engines on a continuous routine of running twenty minutes by batteries and then ten on the engines. This solution, their only option in situation soon led to the batteries themselves breaking down, short-circuiting and starting electrical fires in the boat.

Taking refuge for repairs in San Francisco, the flotilla made it to San Diego on 29 June 1917- in good time for the Independence Day celebrations during which the combined crews were afforded the honour of leading the march through the city. As ever, they continued south into more tropical waters with the mechanical issues continuing to plague the vessels, port-hopping their way into Mexico. Inside the boats, the heat would rise close to 140 degrees Fahrenheit, making their difficult almost impossible. Also clearly tired of the monotony of tinned meals, the crews managed to engage an enterprising coastal farmer to drive a cow to the beach, where it was slaughtered, butchered and loaded to provide some dietary respite.

Finally arriving to Balboa, the western entrance to the Panama Canal on 31 July 1917 and with a list of thirty two items on the defect list, their repair stay lasted 12 days, eventually beginning what would be a historical journey through the Canal on 12 August 1917. Taking nine hours to pass, the flotilla wrote history by being the first vessels to pass the canal under the White Ensign, with CC-1 and CC-2 being the first submarines to make the journey. It would take half a century for another Canadian submarine to make the journey.

Once into the Caribbean Sea, their epic journey was yet half finished. Reaching port at Kingston, Jamaica permitted the first leave for the crews when not repairing the engines.

Now pointing in the right direction for the first time, they set out and made Charleston, South Carolina for more repairs, leaving on 10 September only to be forced to return to port after gallantly battling heavy seas for 24 hours.

Setting off on 15 September, after more power had been drawn from the engines, the flotilla hit heavy weather the next day. Through a Canadian Periscope takes up the final leg of the story:

'Twenty-four hours later a storm blew up, which turned out to be the worst of the voyage. CC-1's towing gear was carried away completely and the line fouled Shearwater's propeller. The submarines, running on one engine each, were unable to dive to avoid the weather, and the crews again suffered from severe seasickness. Many were so badly affected that they could not carry on their duties. On 18 September, the flotilla staggered into Norfolk, Virginia, broken and bleeding. Two weeks of repairs followed at the USN dockyard, in an attempt to resuscitate the dying submarines. Three more sailors deserted. Despite their efforts, Shearwater had to tow CC-1 almost all the way to Newport, Rhode Island, with work continuing night and day on her engines. It took another six days to repair the submarine before they left on the last long-awaited leg to Halifax. The men, frustrated and exhausted, could almost smell their new home port. American warships escorted the flotilla for the final stage with Shearwater, CC-1 and CC-2 coming thankfully alongside in Halifax on 14 October 1917.'

Taking almost twice as long as estimated, the journey had covered 7,252 miles over four months. It was only due to the dogged perseverance of the crews in the face of insurmountable engineering problems. These were mainly attributed to the inadequate cooling system, the condensation which formed inside the hull affecting the electrical system, a poor pump shaft and the overworked batteries.

Finally at Halifax, the suggestion of transfer to Europe was correctly jettisoned. A major refit was required and began in November 1917 with Hanson made Commanding Officer for both vessels for this undertaking. A composite shore-based submarine depot was erected once the Shearwater left for Bermuda in a training capacity. The base included a workshop, stores and accommodation for the crews.

Halifax Disaster

On the morning of 6 December 1917, whilst the submariners continued their refit under the eye of Lieutenant Hanson, the Halifax Disaster occurred.

That day French steamship Mont Blanc was bound from New York to Halifax with a cargo of 5,000 tons of mixed high explosives. She was rammed by the Norwegian steamship Imo in the outer harbour.

The collision set alight barrels of benzene on the Mont Blanc's deck, which in turn ignited a cargo of picric acid in one of the forward holds. Efforts to extinguish the blaze were seen to be futile and the crew abandoned ship and made for the shore. Soon after landing ashore, some 20 minutes after the collision, the T.N.T. and other explosives aboard the Mont Blanc exploded. The explosion was one of the largest non-nuclear explosions ever to occur.

One rating saw a whole ships funnel sail over his head. Although many ships in the harbour were destroyed and two thirds of the sailors were killed, only minor damage was suffered to the hulls from the tsunami. A number of submariner's were injured, but none were killed.

The devastation was immense. The Mont Blanc was reduced to wreckage, the Imo which had disengaged from the Mont Blanc was blown bodily ashore but it was the city of Halifax which suffered the most. Swaths of houses were blown apart, people were killed in the blast, in the falling buildings or in the resulting tsunami; thousands of people were either buried or badly cut by flying debris; freight cars were cast into the air to land some two miles distant, ships in the harbour lost two thirds of their crew killed, nearby schools and orphanages collapsed killing many children. The horrendous explosion was heard and felt up to 200 miles away.

The cost was great. Some 2,000 people died, 9,000 were injured; some 1,600 homes were completely destroyed with a further 12,000 damaged to some degree; 326 acres of Halifax was laid waste.

Once safely returned, repairs were ordered in the immediate by Hanson. However, a secondary fire began to break out in the close-by ammunition dump and with the working party screaming "... run for your lives" many dived into the water. Hanson was not one of these, remaining at his post whilst the fire blazed on- although no great explosion ensued.

Clockwork mice

With the fear of U-boats in Canadian waters the two boats were the first line of defence in the first attempt at anti-submarine warfare. Detection was the name of the game and the use of hydrophones was the aim. The two boats would act for the Royal Canadian Navy as the U-boats. As such, they travelled under 'MOST SECRET' orders to the salt-water Bras d'Or Lakes in Cape Breton to assist in the first training activities. Although the short-manned CC-1 was left at Halifax, Hanson travelled for the training. This way, the Canadian submarines became the first 'clockwork mice.'

At this point, the crews crossed path and immediately intrigued Alexander Graham Bell. Snippets of his interactions with the boats include the fact that he was subject to the experience of being 'torpedoed' by CC-2 aboard the Shearwater on 6 September 1918. With Bell peering across the lake searching for a periscope the submarine was successful in her attack and registered a 'direct hit' amidships, albeit the fact the training torpedo was set at a depth that it passed directly beneath Shearwater. He worked with the crews throughout September, experimenting and assisting them in their work.

Returned to the Royal Navy in 1919, Hanson was court-martialled for drunkenness and being absent without leave, having both charges proven whilst aboard H.M.S. Excellent, the shore establishment at Edinburgh. His conduct up to this point was generally positive, a report of the previous year stating 'Cool in an emergency and a good seaman. Manages men with tact, zealous & energetic. Quiet in his manner. Fond of shooting.' He later survived the sinking of H.M.S. Speedy in the Sea of Marmora in 1922. Hanson retired in 1933. He returned to Naval duty commanding small vessels at the start of the Second World War. He died on 10th September 1955 in England.

The collar badge and cap badge of this unit are illustrated on front cover of "A Source of Pride", by J.H. Harper. The cap badge is much larger than the collar badge and is extremely rare, we have never auctioned one. We have seen a photograph showing the rare collar worn as a cap badge. Charlton's "First World War Canadian Corps Badges" shows an earlier version collar. Yukon Motor Machine Gun Battery was designated earlier as Boyle's Yukon Machine Gun Battery and the collars shown are from the period of the earlier designation.
